Government and military logistics

Lynden proudly supports government and military projects

The Lynden family of companies has been serving the government and the Department of Defense (DOD) for decades by providing reliable transportation services, emergency aid, logistics planning and more via air, land and sea.

Getting the Job Done

Our marine, surface and air options offer one of the most logistically diverse transportation services in the world. From flying weekly missions to air bases in Germany and Japan, to mobilizing shipments for Operation Enduring Freedom and FEMA disaster response, we understand the unique challenges and deadlines of military and government projects. Our experience includes mission critical barge and aircraft charters, as well as innovative multi-modal shipments that utilize our unique combination of truck, marine, and aircraft assets to meet time and cost objectives. Having flown thousands of missions around the world while providing a reliability rating of 90 percent, our Hercules aircraft are among the top of any carrier. The ability to call upon the strengths of our entire family of transportation and logistics companies gives us the capability to handle the most difficult and complex projects and mobilize at a moment's notice.
