

Ordering something from Amazon, Wayfair or another vendor?

Alaska Marine Lines is committed to shipping your items correctly and efficiently. Your help is needed to ensure this happens by doing the following:

How to label your package

We want to ship your package to the correct location – please instruct your shipper to include your name and abbreviated destination city on the package label – without this information, your package may be sent to the wrong location. If there's enough space on the label, please also include your phone number.

Ordering multiple items

Alaska Marine Lines will consolidate your shipments received on the same day, from the same shipper. Shipments received on different days will not be shipped or billed together – ask your shipper to do their best to send packages together.

Items received for Jane Smith on the same day from the same shipper will be shipped and billed together.

Items received for Jane Smith on different days will be shipped and billed separately.
