Dear Valued Customer,

Alaska Marine Lines is excited to announce that we will be expanding our barge service to the Arctic Region in 2019. Bowhead Transport will continue to provide the destination services at the North Slope villages of Point Hope, Point Lay, Wainwright, Utqiagvik (Barrow), and Kaktovik. Alaska Marine Lines will also service Deadhorse with its two annual sealifts. Bowhead, through its teaming agreement with Alaska Marine Lines, will continue to participate in the door-to-shore service to the Arctic that it initiated over 30 years ago.

Adding these Arctic locations further our goal of serving the entire state of Alaska, from Ketchikan to Kaktovik. The new stops will be added to Alaska Marine Lines' many ports of call, joining the major hubs of Naknek, Dillingham, Nome, Bethel and Kotzebue and more than 65 villages along the coast of Western Alaska. Our 2019 schedule for Western Alaska is now available on our website.
